Louis Biscotti

National Leader, Food and Beverage Services Group
Marcum

In a professional career that has spanned more than 40 years, Louis Biscotti has focused his efforts on improving his clients' growth and profitability. He has guided many companies in their development from small, emerging entities into organizations worth hundreds of millions of dollars. Biscotti works with clients in various industries but with a strong focus on manufacturing and distribution, and food and beverage companies in particular. He joined Marcum's Melville office earlier this year as national leader of the food and beverage services group.
